SUIT FILED TODAY IN DISTRICT SUPREME COURT.

INJUNCTION IS ASKED TO PREVENT BREWERS' ASSOCIATION FROM FORCING PRICES.

Complainants Want Trust Declared Null and Void—Justice Wright Postpones Action Till Monday.

In connection with the local strike situation affecting beer proceedings in equity a injunction were instituted today in the Supreme Court by the District of Columbia, James C. Leonard, proprietor of a bar room in Anacostia, and Samuel G. Stewart, who conducts a bar room at 1141 7th street northwest. Those named as defendants are the Abner-Drury Brewing Company, the National Capital Brewing Company, the Arlington Brewing Company, the Washington Brewing Company, the Chr. Heurich Brewing Company, Edward F. Abner, Albert Carry, William McGuire, Berna Katz, Harry Williams, Christian Heurl, Louis S. Crown, Michael Corkery and Timothy Healy.

The complainants ask that an agreement between the Abner-Drury, the National Capital, the Arlington and the Washington companies, by which they are combining and confederated together under the name of the Brewers' Association, may be declared to be null and void, because contrary to law; that the defendants be enjoined from attempting to enforce the terms of the agreement of the association and from attempting in any way to coerce or attempt to induce anyone from joining the Brewers' Association, or entering into the terms of the agreement; that the defendant companies be enjoined from joining, soliciting or demanding that the Chr. Heurich Brewing Company shall increase the price of its product to the complainants or to any persons whomsoever, or directly or indirectly counseling or advising such action; that the defendant company and Louis S. Crown and Timothy Healy be enjoined from taking any steps to induce the firemen or other employees of the Chr. Heurich Brewing Company to quit the service of that company, or attempting to regulate the price at which the company shall sell any of its product or the person or persons to whom it may sell the same; that the Chr. Heurich Brewing Company be perpetually enjoined from entering the Brewers' Association.

Will Be Considered Monday.

The bill of complaint was presented to Justice Wright in equity by Mr. L. B. Howard, attorney for the complainants, without giving them an opportunity to be heard. Justice Wright announced that he will consider the matter next Monday when all the parties interested will be represented in court.

The complainants explain that they bring the suit in behalf of themselves and other licensed retail liquor dealers in the District of Columbia who may be injured thereby. It is added that the annual product of the five defendant companies amounts to about 270,000 barrels, the greater part of which is sold to the retail liquor dealers of Columbia by the various retail liquor dealers. The retail dealers and

WANTED TO SEARCH RECORDS.
Warner Stutler's Accuser Needs Data in Preparing Case.
Mr. Royal Robinson, a former contractor for District machine street sweeping, who has preferred charges of maladministration against Supt. Warner Stutler of the street cleaning department, called on Commissioner Macfarland yesterday afternoon and asked to be allowed to search the District records and file of vouchers in the auditor's office and the street cleaning department bearing upon his charges against Mr. Stutler.
Mr. Robinson stated that this was necessary in the preparation of his case against the superintendent of the street cleaning and that he desired to save time for the Commissioners by making the search for himself in the records before the investigation of the Commissioner should be commenced next Monday. Mr. Robinson also submitted a copy of any written reply which Mr. Stutler might have made to his charges.
Commissioner Macfarland told Mr. Robinson that he would make no reply which Mr. Stutler might make to his charges, but he would refer to confront Mr. Robinson before the committee to make a reply.
Mr. Robinson was also requested to submit a formal request for information from the District records, specifying particular articles that he wanted, and that this formal application would be submitted to the board of Commissioners when it began the investigation next Monday.
Commissioner Macfarland told Mr. Robinson that as Commissioner West, who has been in charge of the street cleaning department, will not return to Washington until next Monday, it was deemed advisable to postpone the investigation until after he returns. The Commissioner stated that he would be authorized to undoubtedly would procure from the records all the information which Mr. Robinson requested, but that he would not make any statement as having any bearing on the case since their investigation would be expected to be completed by next Monday.
Mr. Robinson today submitted to the Commissioners a formal request for permission to examine the particular records of the Commissioner's office, all relating to work done in February and March last. Several stenographers have submitted a request for the same reason for reporting the proceedings of the investigation. The Commissioners will likely select the stenographer in a few days.

Bread vs. Dough.
Editor of The Evening Star.
The Editor is often called the saint of life and death. This is probably true when the right kind of bread is eaten. The half-baked article which I served to the people of Washington seems more conducive to dyspepsia than anything else. The so-called crust is tough as leather and the inside is about half baked, the same germ is not all destroyed by the heat. Why it is that there is no baker in Washington who can bake the genuine French German bread in long round loaves. The crust brittle and the inside will don't dry

HONORS HANNIS TAYLOR.

Edinburgh University Gives Degree
Noted American.

From the Edinburgh Statesman, July 9.

A special graduation ceremonial was held yesterday by the Edinburgh University senate, with the honor of a degree conferred upon Mr. Hannis Taylor, minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Spain. The ceremony took place in the senate hall of the old university. Sir William Turner, vice chancellor, presided. There was a large attendance of the members of senate, and a number of ladies were present.

Sir William Turner said they were met for the purpose of doing honor to an eminent jurist—Mr. Hannis Taylor of Washington. In the spring of the year the senate resolved to offer the honorary degree of doctor of laws to Mr. Hannis Taylor, and they were glad to confer it upon him at their July graduation, but Mr. Hannis Taylor's services in his own country were required at that time, and so they had come across the Atlantic to be the first that day to receive the honorary degree.

He said the university was about to bestow upon

Sir Ludovic Grant, dean of the faculty of law, in presenting Dr. Hannis Taylor, said: If the step taken by the senate is unusual, we must not forget that the claim of the individual in whose honor this measure is taken is a claim of the highest order, and my only regret today is that the creation of one so distinguished as Dr. Hannis Taylor, which he takes place in the month of July, is not made at a more favorable time, and before audience which is necessarily sparse, I stand in the in the ampler atmosphere of our academic colosseum. Although Dr. Hamowy's remarks do not coincide with the statutory view of the university calendar, it is, nevertheless, from an international point of view, by no means inopportune, for if there is one season which more than another America should observe, it is our thoughts, and our feelings, it especially behooves us to extend the law of fellowship to our brethren across the water, it surely is the week in which falls the 4th of July—the great day of independence—from the contemplation of which our hearts have long since completely faded away.

This mention of the relations of the two English-speaking countries leads me to the English my recital of the grounds up on which rests, by reminding you that he is the author of a monumental work, "The Origins and Growth of the English Constitution."

Sir William Turner said that when he looked back upon certain special occasions such as that he remembered that Mr. Dr. Hannis Taylor's title to recognize Mr. Dr. Hannis Taylor, Mr. Robert Lowe, Mr. H. M. Stanley, Mr. Mr. Oliver Wendell Holmes speeches, and he thought Dr. Hannis Taylor could not do better than follow the example. (Applause.)

William Taylor, in the course of his reply, said that he indeed would be heart were it not pierced through and through by the cordial and generous words which had greeted him that day in the land of his birth. He was a stranger, perhaps, that his heart should have been stirred by a tender emotion when he stood on the frontier of the new Wednesday last. More than a century ago two Scottish youths, William and Isaac Taylor, the sons of William Caird Taylor, came to America in quest of a new life to seek their fortune in the new world. They settled at New Berne, in the state of North Carolina, where they founded two families.

William Taylor, was an elder in the Presbyterian Church, full of reverence for the traditions of the church, and of the traditions of the mighty and reman-

Serious Allegations.

The complainants assert to the court that the Abner-Drury, National Capital, Arlington and Washington Breweries conspired in order to prevent competition in the business to control the distribution of the product to the retail dealers and to prevent competition in the price of the same, conspiring together, forming the Brewers Association, and the National Capital, Arlington and Washington Breweries, and the complainants among the four companies. For more than a year past, it is set forth, "light" beer has been sold at a price of 10 cents per gallon of retail, with a discount of 10 per cent for cash. Prior to that time the price for "light" beer was $8, with a discount of 10 per cent for cash. This reduction in price, explained, was brought about by the Chicago-Henrich Brewing Company, which had been a party to the agreement with the other companies.

To Force Chr. Heurich.

It is further charged that the four defendants companies, other than the Heurich company, conspired to compel the latter to join the association, by inducing the firm employed by the Heurich company to refuse to work for that company unless it agreed to join the association and raise the price of "light" beer to $1 a barrel.

Continuing, the complainants say that the Chr. Heurich Brewing Company has yielded to the demands of the other defendants and increase the price of the beer to $1 a barrel, and that this course will involve great loss and irreparable injury to the retail dealers, who will be prevented from selling the beer at the price fixed by the Heurich company, to their loss and injury, and the deprivation of their customers who are accustomed to purchase the beer at the lower price.

It is made plain to the court that no disagreement or controversy has arisen between the Heurich company and its employees; that no change in the service hours of labor or wages of the firmen employed by it is charged; and that the defendants, but it is declared, the purpose of the defendants Healy and Crown in compelling the firmen to cease their employment, was to force the Heurich company in its business, and compel it to abandon its competition in trade and its sale of its beer at the price now prevailing, and admit the sale to certain specified customers.

entered into and by causing the strike among employees of the Heurich company, the complainants declare, is to stifle competition in the brewing business and to restrain the conduct of trade in violation of the rights of the complainants, and other retail dealers of the general public, and in violation of the law of the land. Further, it is asserted, the purpose of the defendants contrary to public policy and good morals and such as a court of equity can and should restrain by injunction.

Attorney W. G. Johnson represents the complainants.

Held for Grand Jury.

Herbert Akers, colored, about twenty-five years of age, after having a preliminary hearing in the United States branch of the Police Court today, was held by Judge Kimball, under $500 bonds to await action by the grand jury on a charge of robbery. Akers was arrested yesterday by Detective Grant as the result of a complaint made by R. F. Merward of 713 10th street north east that his watch and chain, worth $65, had been stolen from his pocket while he was asleep Saturday night in the park at he corner of 14th street and Pennsylvania Avenue northwest. The man, who was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt, was seen walking toward the watch and asked for a reward, saying that he found the timepiece. The man said he was at the watch because the landlady became suspicious of him, but he declared that there was no chain attached to the watch.
